

Joe Ely, See The Way

Youre gonna be sad til you stop hurtin
For the sake of findin peace of mind
Rise up from there throw back the curtain
That covers your heart and makes you blind

See the way true love has left you

For a lie that you must feed

See the way true love has left you

For what you want but just dont need

Youll bind the wound til you stop bleedin

For the love you gave but could not take

For a love that burns for a love thats leadin

Straight to the heart that will never break

See the way true love has left you

Face to face with all mankind

See the way true love has led you

From place to place from time to time

Youll take your chances down random rivers

Bound for glories beyond the sea

Youll find some keepers and some forgivers

Deep in the heart of eternity

See the way true loves outguessed you

Sometimes with scandals sometimes with schemes

See the way true love has blessed you

Far beyond your wildest dreams