

Joe Nichols, If I Ever Get Her Back

I'm gonna tell her that I love her about a million times a day oh I'm gonna do everything I wouldn't do I'm gonna straighten up my act
If I ever get her back

I'm gonna break these old habits just like I broke her heart it took her walking out for me to figure out how to keep our love on track

If I ever get her
back in these arms
right where she belongs I'll hold her near dry the tears and make her laugh
If I ever get her back

She'll be my every reason and I'll bend so we don't break I'll give her all my time take time to read her mind she won't even have to ask

If I ever get her
right where she belongs I'll hold her near
dry those tears and make her laugh
If I ever get her
I'll hold her near
dry her tears and make her laugh

I'm gonna tell her that I love her
