

Joe Nichols, She Could Care Less

I'm the luckiest man in this whole world
Cause I got the love of a sweet little girl
I'm as amazed as I can be
I swear I don't see what she sees in me

She could care less but she don't
She could say goodbye but she won't
Why she loves me I'll never know
She could care less but she don't

Well all I own is some rock bottom land
She oughta have diamonds on both of her hands
Now I don't know why she hasn't left
Couldn't blame her if she traded me for someone else

She could care less but she don't
She could say goodbye but she won't
Why she loves me I'll never know
She could care less but she don't

Well she could care less but she don't
She could say goodbye but she won't
Why she loves me I'll never know
She could care less but she don't

Why she loves me I'll never know
She could care less but she don't
