

Joe Purdy, Balcony/Green Eyes

Will you stay with me
On the balcony
We'll sink in our seats
As the people all leave
We can hide out as the curtain comes down
And fall asleep to sleeping sounds
When the mornings growing near
We'll see if the coast is clear

Green eyes are better than blue
I ain't trying to be mean I'm just telling the truth
It's enough to make me run away with you
Darling green eyes are better than blue

She says this isn't easy you know
Loving the hands that you ain't supposed to hold
And I'll pray for the days that I won't sleep alone
She says this isn't easy you know

Green eyes are better than blue
I ain't trying to be mean, just telling the truth
It's enough to make me run away with you
Darling green eyes are better than blue

Johnny says don't bring her down
When the pedestal crumbles and falls to the ground
You will wish that you left her the way that you found her
Johnny says don't bring her down

Green eyes are better than blue
I ain't trying to be mean, just telling the truth
It's enough to make me run away with you
Darling green eyes are better than blue

Well I saw you in the water last night
You were smiling at me as you slipped out of sight
When I woke from my dream I was screaming for life
'Cause I saw you in the water last night

Green eyes are better than blue
I ain't trying to be mean, just telling the truth
It's enough to make me run away with you
Darling green eyes are better than blue
I said green eyes are better than blue
I said green eyes are better than blue
I said green eyes are better than blue