

Joe Purdy, This Morning Blue woke up next to you, this morning blue. you're eyes they open so slow to the things they did not wanna see note I'm praying that it wasn't me you say you love me sometimes I say I love you way too much you got a different way of showing things and not knowing you is killing me the only thing I know is true, is when I close my eyes at night the only thing I see is you and I believe that we can see it though and I'm praying that you see it too.
