

Joe Purdy, Waiting On Something Good

I was walkin, just about 3rd and St Marks But it ain't the same as it was last time i was here So i stood there, watchin the light as it changed remember that time in the rain when we ran through the streets yeah we were waiting on something good to go down just waiting on something good

yeah we were waiting on something good to go down
just waiting on something good

Sally, i used to show up at her door but i don't do that anymore, she answers my call she says "baby, don't you go breakin' your back to buy me the things that i lack cuz i will get 'em myself yes and I don't need nobodys help yes and I'll love you just the same if you ain't got a dime to your name"

Cuz I'm waiting on something good to go down just waiting on something good
yeah we were waiting on something good to go down

On the counter, in the back of the hotel bar I was joining a hotel choir and i just could not and it was B-right and the Tragedies led the whole gang and we all stood up and we sang an old gospel song yeah but we didn't sing very long

Cuz we were waiting on something good to go down just waiting on something good
yeah we were waiting on something good to go down
just waiting on something good
