

Joerg Vogeltanz, Don't Rely On Religion

welcome to a vengeful world this is some suffering inferno i always got what i deserved never had to regret a thing i always had a transit card but i didn't ever use it and though the old days now seem better though i once had life for two i won't touch the door behind me blood kills the past

i can't go back
with this hair too white can't go back
with this change inside
i can't return
to event horizon
with you by my side

my memory chips erased all friends who always came to use me well, they wet a weeping wall very far away from me i always had some love to share but i didn't ever leave you and though the passed years now look greater though all love songs want to quit i won't touch the door behind you

i can't go back
through my history can't forget about destiny
i can't return
to event horizon
with you by my side

i can't go back
i can't return
all that was is raining down on me
with you by my side

words: j. vogeltanz 1997