

Joerg Vogeltanz, Entrancexit

entrancExit (a love song for a solipsist) i wouldn't run for life i couldn't live for time i shouldn't walk down roads for I see the circle

if you want me to stay i'd just tell you to wait because our straightlines will meet sometimes

every step outside causes steps back home absurd leaving curved logic

and in the mirror divine i see the central shrine concealing my world's fulcrum

going in going out
sphaeres revolving
entrancexit

our entrance is an exit and between is space to run and the state called freedom is dancing love or stumblin' hate

going in going out
sphaeres revolving
entrancexit

Words: vogeltanz 1995