

Joey Albert, Points Of View

Look, it's happened once again
It happens every now and then
Feeling the hurt and hatin' all the men
Ready to stop it all

That's when I need a friendly face
To see me through these lonely days
Just to put some sunshine in my place
Don't take too long, I need you

REFRAIN 1

Here I am
I haven't gone that far away
And since I am
The kind of friend you know
Would stay with you through all the pain
Never to leave you in the rain
Ready to listen to what you've been through
Your woes and blues and share each other's...

CHORUS

Points of view
We've been there once before
And kept our points of view
It doesn't really matter if they're never quite the same
We have the rules in diff'rent ways
We play the games of diff'rent folks with diff'rent strokes
And keep our points of view

See, the world seems bright again
It only darkens now and then
Most of the time there's just no telling when Look up and see you've got
