

Joey Tempest, Every Universe

the world is big and round theres a sky above it and when I let you down I feel like nothing our universe is deep when everything is sweet dont you just love it the day precedes the night it just gets better unlike this life of mine it lasts forever our universe is void when you seem annoyed youre hard to measure from here my seat on this plane I see where you live and Im coming home so I, I am the first to witness your love your every universe
I love the way you stare into the distance if theres no one there nobody listens our universe is here as I face my fear of indecision
from here my seat on this plane I see where you live and I am coming home
so I, I am the first to witness your love
your every universe
