

Johan Becker, Something About You

I might give up
I might give in
'cause I know you're about to win
I look at you
I sense it still
That my turn is up again

I'm drowning in the pouring rain
But since I met you things have changed

There's something about you
I can't live without you
You just linger on min
All the time

I fill my arms
With thoughts of you
You bring out the best in me
If I should fall What would you do
Would you take care of me

I'm drowning in the pouring rain
But since I met you things have changed

There's something'.

Would you take care of me
If I asked you to
I know you're the one
Want to run to you
There's something about you'.
