

Johan, Reader Takes A Stand

So you're taking a stand
But it's staking your hand
I can't believe you know
You've got nothing to say
Better throw it away
Ah can you leave it now
Take it easy now
Yeah take it easy now

You can speak out your mind
But you rage all the time
Won't you cut it out
Now you come after me
Not the faintest idea
What you're all about
I've never understood
What makes you think you should
You're so vain I bet you think you could....lecture me

Reader takes a stand
With his flag of raging fool he's marching in to save the world
Reader takes a stand
With a taste for (...) he's rushing in to make a plea for what

Here you judge and you preach
And you stick like a leech
I'm gonna pull you off
I can't argue with you
But you don't have a clue
I think I've had enough
You never understand
So because you can't
So screwed up yeah way beyond repair
As if I care

Reader takes a stand
With his flag of raging fool he's marching in to save the world
Reader takes a stand
Know it all got shit for brains and ignorance runs through his veins
Nanananana nanananana nanananana nanananana
With his flag of raging fool he's marching in to save the world
Nanananana nanananana nanananana nanananana
With his flag of raging fool he's marching in to save the world

So you're taking a stand
With a brick in your hand
It's getting old by now
Better throw it away
Cause I'm not gonna stay
I'm a-leave you now
Take it easy now
Yeah take it easy now