

John & Audrey Wiggins, If She

(Don Van Tress)

She's the promise of pearl in a pool of heartache
She's the perfect little truth wrapped in little white lies
Like the wind she will turn
She can state the case now and then
Ignore the truth
When it ain't on her side
When her eyes claim that she's a lady
You better treat her as such
But comfort the little girl when her world gets too rough

If she
If she's the woman that you live for
Make her feel how much you need her
If she's the woman you love

In the moment that your lives touched
There was something in the stars
That made you feel you'd probably die
Just for a good morning in her arms
'Cause you knew you'd seen an angel
And you were sure she'd fly away
But she chose you when she landed
And gave her heart away

So she's your mystery trip into each new tomorrow
She's the first to laugh and she's the worst to cry
She's like the tide 'neath your ship
But all the fall and rise is just a call to dance

And she's always in time
And her love is like a river in a poem
Penned in wine
That takes you floating forever rhyme after rhyme

If she
If she's the woman that you live for
Make her feel how much you need her
If she's the woman you love
