

John Denver, Come And Let Me Look Into Your Eyes

I Guess growing isn't hard to do
Just stand against the wall
Once I was just two feet high
Today I'm six feet tall
But knowing who to listen to
Is something else again
Words just whistle 'round my head
Like seasons in the wind

All across the water the clouds are sailing
They won't let me look at the sky
All I want to do is try and find myself
Come and let me look in your eyes.

In searching for the way to go
I've followed all the rules
The way they say to choose between
The wise men and the fools
I listen to the words they say
I read what I should read
I do whatever's right to do

Try to be what I should be

Someone let me in I think the sky is fall-ing
Seems I've gotten lost on my way
All I want to do is try and find myself
Come and let me look in your eyes
Come and let me look in your eyes

But wisdom is-n't underground
Nor on a mountain side
There's no place here to hide
Where can I hide

All across the universe the stars are fading
Seems we've gotten lost on our way
All I want to do is try and find myself
Come and let me look in your eyes
Come and let me look in your eyes
Come and let me look in your eyes.
