

John Kelly & Maite Itoiz, Freedom

Can't they see their land in peace
Can't they hear their songs once more
Can't the waves of the sea
Go to lie in the sands of the free land
It's not a matter of believe
But the hopes seem to be gone
And the waves of the sea
Won't lie in the sands of a free land
Freedom deep inside their hearts
They are pleading every day every night
Can you just forget the times
When the kids could run outside
With their games and their jokes
With a smile and no fear in their faces
So they thought by playing hard
Soon their god would take a chance
And that justice would grow
And ist strength would bring peace to their sorrows
Freedom deep inside their hearts
They are pleading every day every night
And I know darling it's not one more tear
Yes I know honey we'll have to leave
Should we pray yes I will
Should we fight yes I will
Freedom deep inside their hearts
They are pleading every day every night
They want freedom deep inside their hearts
They are pleading every day every night
