

John Kelly & Maite Itoiz, Hey little girl

Hey little girl
Where do you come from
Hey little girl
Where do you come from
I come from the valley
Where flowers always grow
There're always flowers in the valley
Hey little boy
Where do you come from
Hey little boy
Where do you come from
I come from the city
Where flowers never grow
There're never flowers in my city
Our love belongs to the sun witness of it's birth
We'll make it through no matter what
Cause you toughed my soul with your words
I wonder if we ever knew
How beautiful this feeling would be
I wonder if we ever knew
Our love would change our destiny
Hey little girl
Where do you come from
Hey little girl
Where do you come from
I feel every morning
The breezes from the sea
And when I breathe them they set me free
(In the valley, yeah)
When the spring is blooming new
When the wind brings peace and calm
When the stars are shining like your tears
Then I know it's you
Our love belongs to the sun witness of it's birth
We'll make it through no matter what
Cause you toughed my soul with your words
I wonder if we ever knew
How beautiful this feeling would be
I wonder if we ever knew
Our love would change our destiny
Hey little girl
Where do you come from
Hey little boy
Where do you come from
From the valley (from the valley)
From the valley
