John Mayer, Tracing

do you ever get the feelin that we started in the middle? or have you ever had the sense that weve been lying just a little? i mean come on its not like weve known ourselves that long and i cant say i really blame you for being bored with the beginning always staring at the score to figure out whos barely winning but dont you know there is a reason strong, move slow and im okay if youre okay with wasting time but when you trace you always see the bottom line

we are tracing
i hope you know
and if you want to know the moment i knew that i was still alone i found i never learned your number i only stored it in my phone youd think by now id know the shape of calling home

we are tracing i hope you know we are tracing were both alone we are tracing we are tracing did you ever get the feeling that we started in the middle? or have you ever had the sense that weve been lying just a little? i mean come on its not like weve knew ourselves that long
