John Mellencamp, Someday

(John Mellencamp)

Someday, someday But I don't know when Someday, someday But I don't know when

Brother brother oh brother Why are you walking down this road here This is the road of madness and trouble And it's paved with intolerance, ignorance and fear

Someday, someday But I don't know when Someday, someday But I don't know when

Drinking our liquor from a paper cup Mean to each other Enough is enough I look at your face You look just like me Hey brother, I'm not your enemy

Someday, someday But I don't know when Someday, someday But I don't know when

How many times can a spirit be broken For this is the kingdom of heaven we're given Good fortune will come to those who create peace For those are the ones that will walk in heaven

Someday, someday But I don't know when Someday, someday But I don't know when

Someday, someday But I don't know when Someday, someday But I don't know when