

John Norum, Gone To Stay

I was born in a ragged home didn't have much but I didn't care I was heading for the danger zone the time was right to disappear

Now it's time to get away
where the sunshine's all day but the truth is that I'm here to stay
I might be back, another time another day

Down down down I'm gone to stay

I have no fear of getting old I live my life not like I've been told I got to move I got to take control, but in the end it's all about the same old song

But now I'm finally had my way all the bad times are gone to stay Searching for truth it's time to pay
I might be back, another time another day

Down down down I found my way
Let me fly I'm gone to stay

I was born a bag of bones
But now I'm back like a rollin stone

Now it's time to get away
Where the sun shines all day
But the truth is I'm here to stay
I might be back another time another day

Down down down down shine on me Reach the sky and you will see
