

Jon Bon Jovi, What You Want

I don't care about where you've been
I don't care about anything but today
And baby, you and me

She lives her life behind neon lights
Whispering softly, you fall for her again
Another night, they're all the same

We're living here on borrowed time
So you go your way and I'll go mine
I'm still waiting for someone special
To come and take me away

What you want
Well, you can get it from me
What you need
Well baby I'll be giving for free
I'm leaving in the morning and I'll be gone

I took her home through a parking lot
Up to that old forgotten spot
Where all the tough guys used to go
Then I told her I love her, I'd take her away
Follow my dreams get out of this rat trap someday
Come on baby, let's get away
She said, you know I've heard it all before
How your life's a revolving door
You think, you're gonna get out
But you're always in and you'll never win

What you want
Well, you can get it from me
What you need
Well baby I'll be giving for free
I'm leaving in the morning and I'll be gone

What you want
Well, you can get it from me
What you need
Well baby I'll be giving for free
Well tonight's ours baby, in the morning I'll be gone

What you want
Well, you can get it from me
What you need
Well I'll be giving for free
I'm leaving in the morning and I'll be gone

What you want
Well, you can get it from me
What you need
Baby I'll be giving for free
Tonight's ours baby in the morning I'll be gone
