

Jonas Blue, Paloma Faith, Mistakes

when will i learn to spot me making the same mistake again same mistake again for you when will I learn to lock my heart so it doesn't break again, no doesn't break again in two

I shouldn't known, shoulda know by now that I was always gonna come back around back in the day you know you know let me down thought maybe I'd finally figured you out cause

you said that things would be different but all that turns out to be fiction breaking dishes in the kitchen walking soon glass babe you say its space that your needing I say forget it I am leaving

but history keeps on repeating
when will i learn to spot me making the same mistake again
same mistake again for you
when will I learn to lock my heart
so it doesn't break again, no
doesn't break again in two

when will I learn that I can do better /2x
so much better

I'm all out of new words to say running on empty out of reason to stay my friends tod me it ould go this way they call me stupid when I say that you've changed, but

you said that things would be different
but all that turns out to be fiction
but history keeps on repeating
when will i learn to spot me making the same mistake again
same mistake again for you
when will I learn to lock my heart
so it doesn't break again, no
doesn't break again in two

when will I learn that I can do better /2x
so much better