

Jonny Lang, Give Me Up Again make up your mind, take me or leave me i'll be doing fine, with or without you i'm wasting my time letting you deceive me the truth is in your eyes, but i deny what i see time and time again

i let you get back under my skin
i let you break me down again i let you get close, way too close but i see through it

you gave me that smile and i gave in and you knew that i would time and time again you pulled me in just to give me up, give me up again what is a dream if it doesn't come true i believe i'll find love, but will it be with you? i never would have thought that such a pretty little face could offer me so much and take all that i had well i want it back

i let you break me down again
i let you get close, way too close

just to give me up, give me up again.
