

Joseph Arthur, Candy Store

Tell me if you know the way to the candy store
I guess we really should decide if I'm your pimp or your whore
Cause if you give me a little all I need is some more
Tell me if you have a key or should we break down the door

You don't understand yourself at all
You don't understand your bound to fall

Tell me if you know the way to the other side
Tell me if you know the way to the end of time
And could you help me get rid of my beggin' mind
I'm calling out for you at the end of the line

You don't understand yourself at all
You don't understand your bound to fall

You don't understand your bound to fall
You don't understand yourself at all
