Josh Turner, Gravity

I've got my share of scars on those ol' monkey bars Every time I'd hit the ground On that old long dirt my bike lost control And once again I was fallin' down Every time I'd try to fly, there's a force I can't deny Gravity

Grew to be six foot one, depended on no one Yeah, I was my ol' man Invincible and strong until you came along And touched me with your gentle hand When I look into your eyes, there's a force I can't deny Gravity

Well, I never really like it much Always left me all scraped up Never really saw it as a good thing Changes tides out on the sea Pulled your body close to me First time I ain't been afraid to fall Don't guess it's so bad after all Gravity

Well, I never really like it much Always left me all scraped up Never really saw it as a good thing Changes tides out on the sea Pulled your body close to me First time I ain't been afraid to fall Don't guess it's so bad after all Gravity

Gravity Mmmmmm, gravity
