

Josh Woodward, I Want to Destroy Something Beautiful

My dear, I'll give you sixty seconds to disappear
And if you don't get out of here... who knows?
Cuz I've been trying to find out if an angel bends or breaks
Or shatters like a stone

I... I want to destroy something beautiful

For you, I want to destroy for you

Tonight, there's only an inch between pain and delight

And I'm full of Canadian whiskey and spite again

Destruction and creation are the same thing after all

The mighty always fall

I... I want to destroy something beautiful

For you, I want to destroy for you

Destruction and creation are the same thing after all

The mighty always fall

I... I want to destroy something beautiful

For you, I want to destroy something beautiful

For you, I want to destroy for...
