Journey, After All These Years

A faded wedding photograph You and me in our first dance The lives of those We lost in once sweet embrace Since those days our world has changed Our love remains the same God knows we've had our share of saving grace And I'm proud of all the blessings You have given me The mountains we have climbed to get this far You learn to take the laughter with the tears After all these years You make it feel brand new After the fires that we walked thru Against the odds we never lost our faith In our hearts we've made our home Where our children all have grown Precious moments time can not erase We've been livin' up and down the gypsy highway Seasons that we've learned to share apart Somehow in my heart I always keep you near me After all these years After all these years You stood by me The days and nights that I was gone After all these years You sacrificed, believed in me And you stood strong 'Cause with our love there's nothing left to fear After all these years After all these years You stood by me The days and nights that I was gone After all these years You sacrificed, believed in me And you stood strong 'Cause with our love there's nothing left to fear After all these years
