

JP Cooper, Need You Tonight (ft. RAY BLK)

Oh no, I'm straight in at the deep end
It was just a quiet drink with my friends
My god I even chose a place you wouldn't be seen dead in.

It's a Friday
You never used to go out at the weekend
I guess you go out at the weekend these days
And I don't want to listen to what my friends say
They say, let her go, let her go,
Maybe she'll come back
Everyone's giving me advice to move on
But they're playing our song

Standing here tonight I'm watching you move
There's a little space on the dance floor
Would you mind if I came and danced with you
I promise not to step on your shoes

Maybe we can start a little conversation
Cos' recently my heart's been breaking
And I can't tell wrong from right
but I know I need you tonight
I need you tonight
I need you tonight
I need you tonight

Oh No,
She's looking right in my direction
But I ain't seeing no reaction
I guess I'm in the shadows over here where I'm standing
But she's shining
She never used to dance up in the spotlight
I guess she dances in the spotlight these days and I wish I had listened what my friends say

They say, let her go, let her go,
Maybe she'll come back
Everyone's giving me advice to move on
But they're playing our song

Standing here tonight I'm watching you move
There's a little space on the dance floor
Would you mind if I came and danced with you
I promise not to step on your shoes

Maybe we can start a little conversation
Cos' recently my heart's been breaking
And I can't tell wrong from right
but I know I need you tonight
I need you tonight
I need you tonight
I need you tonight

Standing here tonight I'm watching you move
There's nobody left on the dance floor
Would you mind if I came and danced with you
I promise not to step on your shoes

Maybe we can start a little conversation
Cos' recently my heart is breaking
And I can't tell wrong from right
but I know I need you tonight
I need you tonight
I need you tonight

I need you tonight