

Juanes, A Dios Le Pido

For my eyes to wake up with the light of your sight,
I ask God for my mother not to die and for my father to remember me,
I ask God for you to stay by my side and not to ever leave my life,
I ask God for my soul not to rest when my sky is about loving you,
I ask God for the days I have and the nights that are not here yet
I ask God for the sons of my sons and the sons of their sons
I ask God for my people not to shed so much blood, and for my people to raise
I ask God for my soul not to rest when my sky is about loving you,
I ask God for one more second of life to give you, and to always stay by you
One more second of life to give you, and my whole heart to hand to you,
one more second of life, I ask God for.
And that if I die, it's because of love, and if I fall in love, it's with you and that your voice is this heart everyday.
I ask God that if I die, it's because of love, and if I fall in love, it's with you and that your voice is this heart everyday.
I ask God, I ask God...
