

Judie Tzuke, These Are The Laws

Your heart that I give to me
I don't want the world to see
You told me the truth if I followed you
All the things I want would all come true

These are the laws that you've made
I don't want to change your ways
These are the laws that you've made
I won't ever doubt the things that you say

You listened to me when I said
By the rules you've been made I've been led
But every day that goes by
Your loving touches me deep inside

These are the laws that you've made
I don't want to change your ways
These are the laws that you've made
I won't ever doubt the things that you say
