Jughead's Revenge, People Bomb

Every things just fine
Or so they seemed to be Nothing could be further from reality
There's just too many people in this place
This people bomb will blow up in our face
You can try to hide but in any case
There's just too many people in this place
So now we sit and wait for that coming day
When all our wasteful selfish habits have us blown away