

Julia Kalkowska, Falling (For You)

Once my mom told me
honey, someday you won't have enough heart
now her words have sense
now I understand that I'm afraid to let myself for for someone again

What are your feelings like?
I started thinking more about yours than mine
I'm too scared to admit
that I'm falling for you
that I'm scared that you're not falling for me x2

Will you disappear like a dream?
My heart is open but the gate is locked
Won't the night take you away?
When I look into your eyes, when I look into your eyes
When I fall for you ocean eyes

What are your feelings like?
I started thinking more about yours than mine
I'm too scared to admit
that I'm falling for you
that I'm scared that you're not falling for me x2

I'm trying to protect my heart from falling apart again
I'm scared that my doubts will come true, will you be there?
could you tell me how it is like to be loved?
could you be that person I was looking for?
Would you be my safe place or leave me like did somebody else

What are your feelings like?
I started thinking more about yours than mine
I'm too scared to admit
that I'm falling for you
that I'm scared that you're not falling for me x2