

Julia Nunes, Indecisive

This week's news: I have a new crush Third this month so it doesn't mean much Leave me alone
'cause I can't control my hormones

My head, oh my head, please disregard what I just said
I'm indecisive and I can't figure out why his face comes in my dreams and nothing's what it seems

I guess I'm immature and stupid and I overthought what you did but I can't help what I think and when you're joking or not well that's where I get caught 'cause I can't make the distinction

My head, oh my head, please disregard what I just said
I'm indecisive and I can't figure out
why his face comes in my dreams and nothing's what it seems

Mulling over things that I've said and all the stupid things I regret but baby it's not over yet Let's see how deep we get

My head, oh my head, please disregard what I just said
I'm indecisive and I can't figure out
why his face comes in my dreams and nothing's what it seems

I can't fall in love I'm just 18 years old but your body's so warm and the weather's so cold and I'm feeling your lips are closer to mine your hands on my hips, shivers shoot up my spine at the scandalous things you told me

My head, oh my head, please disregard what I just said
I'm indecisive and I can't figure out

Just hold my hand, we'll be all right
Just hold my hand, we'll be all right
Just hold my hand, we'll be all right
