

Julian Lennon, I Should Have Known

If I could say to you
And you could say to me,
Love is not enough,
To keep our devotion,
'cos time and time again,
You've disappeared and then,
You've come home to me
And played my emotions.

And i, I should have know before,
That you would break my heart
And I'm trapped in this lonely room,
Because you broke my heart,
I should have known right from the start.

You showed me how to laugh,
You showed me how to cry,
I gave you everything,

My love and devotion.
You tore my life apart,
You killed my inner heart,
You raped every part of me,
You raped my emotions.

And i, I should have know before,
That you would break my heart
And I'm trapped in this lonely room,
Because you broke my heart,
I should have known right from the start.

And i, I should have know before,
That you would break my heart
And I'm trapped in this lonely room,
Because you broke my heart,
I should have known,
I should have known....