

Julian Lennon, Loving Is Easy

You were telling me a story
The story of your life
How you put the group together
Before you met your wife
You never knew what hit you
You never had a clue
'til the people that were near you
Began to stick to you
Loving is easy when you don't count the costs

Impression's overwhelming
The lights are in your eyes
The money's in their pockets
Comes with no surprise
You're finally understanding
The price you have to pay
When you want the fame and glory

It's your life they take away

Loving is easy when you don't count the costs
When you don't count the costs

Well I just want to hold you day by day
But that's the pain I have to bear
I love you more in every single way
But that's the pain we have to share

Loving is easy
Loving is easy when you don't count the costs
When you don't count the costs
When you don't count the costs
(don't count the costs)
When you don't count the costs
(don't count the costs)