

Juliet, Untied

I wanted to love someone,
doesn't matter who.
Just wanted to love someone,
somebody like you.
Two times the pain
every go around
and what's to gain,
with half a heart gone
with half my will gone?
Leave the lonely idle on,
save myself for the only one.

Morning light is calling,
the fuchsia sky is on
and when the rain's falling
I've come undone.

I had a dream,
a fairy tale for two.
Can I find grace?

Tucked away for tomorrow
'cause no one else will do.
Holding out for the golden,
the golden hours with you.

I have a dream,
time keep me true.
I'll turn the page.

Just wanted to love someone,
doesn't matter who.
Just wanted to love someone,
somebody like you.
