July For Kings, Rise

You told me to take my questions to the mirror I've lost you told me to find my answers at the line I crossed my source of strength is a dream I'd never compromise now the emptiness subsides Unforgiven promises all the unfound wishes countless times you've held me down kept me down But I will rise never compromise

Unforgiven promises All the unfound wishes

I will rise.