

Jump Little Children, Requiem

De la de lay la, de la de lay la
De la de lay la

It's up to you
For every passing day
To not let the past pass away

It's up to you
Now that you understand
To take those who don't by the hand

'Cause you can see it coming
You can see it coming
You can see their light fade beneath the stars

It's up to you
Not to sing along
When all of the feeling is gone

'Cause we don't sing the same song anymore
Now you're offering this requiem
'Cause we don't sing the same song anymore
Now you're offering this silent requiem

De la de lay la, de la de lay la
De la de lay la, de la de lay la

It's up to you
To understand your age
To not let the years charge a wage

It's up to you
To see it in the eyes
Of all those who don't realize

'Cause you can see it coming
You can see it coming
You can see them high, high above the stars

It's up to you
Not to sing along
When all of the feeling is gone

'Cause we don't sing the same song anymore
Now you're offering this requiem
'Cause we don't sing the same song anymore
Now you're offering this silent requiem

And I can see that look on your face
When you don't sing along, you don't sing along
And I can see that look on your face
When you don't sing along, you don't sing along

'Cause we don't sing the same song anymore
Now you're offering this requiem
'Cause we don't sing the same song anymore
Now you're offering this requiem
'Cause we don't sing the same song anymore
Now you're offering this silent requiem

De la de lay la, de la de lay la
De la de lay la, de la de lay la

De la de lay la, de la de lay la

De la de lay la, de la de lay la

And I can see that look on your face
When you don't sing along, you don't sing along
And I can see that look on your face
When you don't sing along, you don't sing along
And I can see that look on your face
