

Junction 18, We Want It All

Oh how hope has died
I am just feeding on white lies
And when the dawn breaks to the sky
I'll be the one to melt with time
How heaven hurts
Sometimes it sucks you dry and leaves you numb
And left for dumb
And where to run?
These tears have ran far enough to touch the sun
And I want it all...

Falling in two
I'm falling in two
We are lost in space without a trace
And it feels so cold
And it feels so cold
That I cannot pick myself up off the ground
And this trail of bones lingers on

No one wants to hear
No one wants to see a child they raised to be a failure
But for now, let me get this game straight
Let me strap on this fake face
You'll watch me win it all
Then watch me fall

Falling in two
I'm falling in two
Happiness fought hard with a backfire
Can it be so wrong?
"Can it be so wrong?" I asked
A velvet curtain fell
We blew away and the violins carry on
Falling in two
Falling in two

Turn the knife
And seperate me one more time
And it looks so worn
Your smiles so cold and worn
I should have seen this hell sometime ago
And a distant scream echoes on...
