

Junction 18, Wrong Way Out

[chorus]

Can you break me? Can you thank me?
Either way is possible so she stood up and turned off the light She took the wrong way out She took the wrong way out

Give me a moment or maybe..Give me something that'll make my head spin for awhile And it's too late to start a new direction When you're face down, southbound, hoping for the right one

This isn't a call for kisses out in the street I'm not there yet This night, so defined has got me by the collar It doesn't hold on for a lifetime does it?

[chorus]

You have no better time to say There is no better time to say The way that you turned out, you burned out There is no better time to say, "Ohhhh..Can you feel the disaster? Breaking hearts and a million here after Ohhh..Can you feel the disaster? Licking wounds and a million here after again

So give me a line, give me hope, give me grief, give me you The whole world back Standing alone on my tiptoes waiting..It doesn't hold on for a lifetime does it?

[chorus x2]
