

Jupiter Sunrise, Cherry Wine

Days full of cherry wine, telling you something about yourself
That someone could have just told you if they were honest, like cherry wine
It brings you clarity and brings you spite and everything but what you really want
And you're my cherry wine telling me something about myself I really don't want to know
Why not drown me in this state of discontent?

Why not drown me?