

Justin Hayward, Is It Just A Game

The world is a lonely place
But I soon found out
That love was the saving grace
I know that once in a thousand years
There will come a time
When joy will replace our fears
And you and I
Will fly away together
Is it just a game
That we're playing now?
Were we born to win, can we lose somehow?
Does it all come down to what we've done before?
Is it truth and love that we're searching for?
The world is a lonely place
And the rain that falls
Like tears running down your face
I know that once I can feel
The sun shining down on me
I'll run to your warm embrace
And you and I
Will fly away together
Is it just a game
That we're playing now?
Were we born to win?
Can we lose somehow?
Does it all come down
To what we've done before?
Is it peace and love
That we're searching for?
The world is a lonely place
Is it just a game
That we're playing now?
Were we born to win?
Can we lose somehow?
Does it all come down
To what we've done before?
Is it peace and love
That we're searching for?
The truth may be hard to find
But then love is blind
