Justin Hayward, YOU

You don't even know my name Time was when you would Take the love you've given all away Take a part of me You don't even walk my road Can't find where you turned Looked away and you were gone Now we're on our own Old man is this why we're alone I, I believe What is lost for ever has brought the change in me I, I believe What is lost for ever has brought the change in me You don't even know my world I've tried hard to see If I'd found the world you're looking for There'd be a change in me You don't even know my name Time was when you would Take the love you've given all away Take a part of me You've gone and changed the world I see I, I believe

What is lost for ever has brought the change in me
