

Kaci Brown, Butterflies Don't Lie

You walk by and my heart beats a thousand times at once it seems and every time you look at me I have to tell myself to breath with just a smile you capture me and I start to melt Emotions then take over me like I've never felt

I could tell my heart each time it isn't love you're just some guy there's nothing there and what I feel is my head
it isn't real
But I can't deny
can't even try
'cause I know inside
butterflies don't lie

Is there a chance,
you could be mine?
if I let you see inside or do you love somebody else should I keep this to myself?
I could risk a broken heart by telling you the truth or I could keep my secret safe and when I see you

I could tell my heart each time
it isn't real

Once again,
there you are anxious, nevvous heart butterfly fluttering could only mean one thing

I could tell my heart each time
it isn't real
