

Kamelot, Ghost Opera

Once a while
When your sorrows have a name And day is dark as night There's no remorse and no redemption
Close the door, can you hear the crowd is waiting For a last encore Screaming out for my attention

Chanting my name

Welcome all
to curtain call
at the opera
raging voices in my mind
rise above the orchestra
like a crescendo of gratitude this is my song

Like the dead
I am on the other side they're howling in my head
there's no remorse and no redemption
hush my dear
let the music fill the night and soon it's all we hear screaming out for my attention

Chanting my name
Chanting my name

Welcome all
to curtain call
at the opera
raging voices in my mind
rise above the orchestra
like a crescendo of gratitude

Don't wake me until it's over I... I may be dreaming away

Chanting my name
Chanting my name

Welcome all
to curtain call
at the opera
raging voices in my mind
rise above the orchestra

Welcome all
to curtain call
at the opera
raging voices in my mind
rise above the orchestra