

Kamelot, Heaven

look towards the sea tell me, what do you see?
will you know what it is when you have found it? you searched high above and you searched far below but it still seems so far and you know it time - it dwindles away there's a clock on the wall and it seems to be calling your name you hide, but you can't run away he'll be right there behind you reminding you it's not a game i will conquer the beast and i'll swim the seven seas and my heart will still beat and i'll never give up i will walk desert plains and endure gruelling pain and my heart will still beat and i never give up heaven is a heartbeat away for your dreams of tomorrow could very well end today
heaven is a heartbeat away for your dreams of
tomorrow could very well end today