Karnivool, L1fel1ke

You relate through the bloodline When you can never take anything that I give Always wanting to relate through me I go watch you slowly slip away

You're wanting to put your trust in When I can feel this remedy kickin on Just to taste it, just to want it And I can say it's not my fault

Say it's alright When I'm coming down Not again it's so lifelike

Come make it alright When I'm coming down Not again I'm fragile

Would you choose me or just abuse me? When I can never take anything that you give Always wanting to relate through me I go watch you slowly slip away

You're wanting to put your trust in When I can feel this remedy kickin on Just to taste it, just to want it And I can say it's not my fault

Say it's alright When I'm coming down Not again it's so lifelike

Come make it alright When I'm coming down Not again I'm fragile

You see I'll be the one in your darkest time..

(It's not my fault!)

Should I begin to erase myself? I'm caught in this picture of you Should I begin to assess myself? Tell me it's over..

It comes from above with these feelings It takes you away and it buries your soul again You're now blessed by ignorance Cause you want to

So run with me if you must follow I'll take you away to this place where we can be free A place I call ecstasy

Now you lie alone Your chance to stop and stare God, I kiss your bones.. And say it's not my fault

Say it's alright When I'm coming down Not again it's so lifelike

Come make it alright

When I'm coming down Not again I'm fragile

Well you say it's alright When I'm coming down Not again it's so lifelike

Come make it alright When I'm coming down Not again I'm fragile