

Kashmir, Stand

to stand, and walk again to forgive, and make amends we gain and share the trust we so sincerely wished would never add, until we stood and walked again we forgave, and made our love revive that would die for turning back that back it turned on you, at night we will never fall again never hide so small and when you remember where we've been we'll never fall again

to loose the broken heart and then find the unknown art respect, not expecting more than truth my truth is I love you, I do and we'll never fall again

never hide so small and when
you remember where we've been
we'll never fall again

as I was falling away uh, I watched my body go down I watched the entire deployment sequence and I saw the silver cord coming right out of the back of my neck yes we'll never fall again

never hide so small and when
you remember where we've been we'll never fall.....