

Kat Tingey, Undone

I see your eyes light up, whenever you smile.
I hear your heart go wild, whenever I touch your lips to mine.
I study your deep brown eyes full of wonder,
I can't believe all of the life you've uncovered.
The simplest things leave you haunting my mind,
I want to keep you forever.
But can I stay with you?
Can I lead you away from the world that you know?
Do I really deserve to be selfish like this?
I'm undone.
Should I go?
I stand by your side, a desire to touch you,
the smell of your skin leaves me rigid, and wanting.
Unable to render your mind, you're a mystery,
A question...a smile...
you breath and I am free,
But can I stay with you?
Can I lead you away from the world that you know?
Do I really deserve to be selfish like this?
I'm undone.
Should I go?
No, no, no I will not go,
I'm addicted to you, and I think that you know,
that I love, you so!
And I won't leave you hear all abandoned, alone,
No I will not go!
My arms will surround you and pull you toward me,
Touching my lips to your ever so carefully,
I give you my soul!
I love you,
I love you,
I see your eyes light up, whenever you smile,
I hear your heart go wild, whenever I touch your lips to mine.