

Kate Alexa, Not Another Love Song

I'm not gonna tell you everything is great with you and I I dont wanna think that life is perfect all the time you know you try my patience I know I do the same but you are the one who's guilty and I am the one to blame why pretend that everything is wonderful why do that at all
it's not another love song that I will sing for you so dont expect to hear the words we both know are untrue
it's not another love song
not the same old lies where everything's a fantasy that always turns all right I dont take it personally when I say I ned some space I know that I drive you crazy sametimes but what can I say I never mean to hurt you I know at times I do there's no way around the ups and downs that every ne goes through why pretend no one said it would be easy so why pretend at all
it's not another love song
that I will sing for you
so dont expect to hear the words
we both know are untrue
it's not another love song
not the same old lies
where everything's a fantasy
that always turns all right I dont know how to fake it sometimes, sometimes the good sometimes the bed and I know there's nothing perfect but I know your it in the end hey hey you know it's not
it's not another love song
that I will sing for you
so dont expect to hear the words
we both know are untrue
it's not another love song
not the same old lies
where everything's a fantasy
that always turns all right
it's not another love song
that I will sing for you
so dont expect to hear the words
we both know are untrue
it's not another love song
not the same old lies
where everything's a fantasy
that always turns all right
it's not another love song
that I will sing for you
so dont expect to hear the words
we both know are untrue
it's not another love song

not the same old lies
where everything's a fantasy
that always turns all right