

Kate Miller-Heidke, Space They Cannot Touch

How's my luck
But somehow I'm with you
Let's leave now
Let's leave them
And their point of view
My favourite place is me and you
I wake up in darkest night
I watch you breathe in shadow light
A perfect world lies next to me
And now I don't need to sleep to dream
I just hope I am good enough to keep you

Morning sun warms our skin
Distant sounds
The day begins
Soon their world will come calling for us
But this is space they cannot touch
I just hope I am good enough to keep you
